Report of the Assistant to the Bishop and Director for Evangelical Mission

Good Samaritan Lutheran Church in Lanham is scheduled to vote on Sunday, June 23, 2013 on requesting temporary synodical administration. If the congregation approves this, the Synod Council will vote on assuming this responsibility. An administrative team would be appointed to manage the congregation's affairs.

Also coming up is a vote by Christ Lutheran Church in Bethesda on June 30, 2013. They are voting on a massive redevelopment project. They will tear down the existing building and convert it to condominiums and build a new sanctuary.

At the next Synod Council meeting, we anticipate adding Pastor Chandran Lite of In Christ Fellowship, a new synodically authorized worshipping community, to the roster. In Christ Fellowship is a Tamil-speaking congregation.

Oromo Resurrection Lutheran Church will be officially received today at the Synod Assembly as a congregation of the synod. This is the last official step in becoming a congregation of the synod. Fourteen young adults will represent the congregation before the assembly. Currently, Oromo Resurrection Lutheran Church has plans to develop another new ministry.

Report of the Presiding Bishop

Presiding Bishop Hansen

Presiding Bishop Hansen noted that this year's synod assemblies have been stellar. During the past several years we have gained greater clarity regarding who we are and where we are going. There is a lot of positive energy and excitement.

Bishop Hansen also reported on recent meetings in Geneva with the Lutheran World Federation. He noted that there is a greater sense of being a communion of churches.

He also commended the Metro D. C. Synod for being a forward thinking and acting synod and Bishop Graham, in particular, for his leadership on the ELCA's LIFT task force. He described synods as companions: companions of congregations, of churchwide, and of companion synods.

He also noted that in 2017, the 500th anniversary of the Reformation, we may anticipate discussions about true heirs to Luther's legacy.

Pr. Edwards inquired about ecumenical relationships with the Roman Catholic Church. Bishop Hansen commented on the interesting peculiarities of ecumenical relationships in the 21st century. Ironically, churches with theological affinities, may find themselves at odds when it comes to social issues. The converse is true as well.

In a number of instances, church bodies with deep historical and theological divisions have formed alliances with respect to social/moral issues.

Tom Kern asked about where Bishop Hansen saw the church in 100 years. Bishop Hansen responded that, just as we are currently experiencing, the cultural supports of Christianity will continue to diminish. He anticipates that the Lutheran witness will endure in some form or another. He also noted the importance of ongoing conversations with people of other faiths. He expressed concern about extremism among people of all faiths and the importance of being reflective and open to conversation with others.
